SCORED THE LOOTERS

Strong resolutions have been passed by the Glen Ellen Grange, condemning the State Legislature for robbing the State treasury by the employment of scores of useless employees, and the Sonoma county representatives for having voted for the measure without opening their mouths in an endeavor to diminish the graft. The resolutions follow:

Whereas, The Legislature of this state, now in session at Sacramento, is employing useless and unnecessary attaches for the sole purpose of providing patronage for distribution to friends and relatives or political henchmen of the members and is thus wasting the hard-earned money of the taxpayers in the State Treasury in shameful disregard of the legislators' moral obligation to their constituents and in plain violation of their oaths of office. Therefore be it

Resolved, By Glen Ellen Grange, No. 299, P. of H., in regular meeting assembled, that we condemn the action of our Legislature in this respect, and that we emphatically disapprove the acts of our Representative and Senator in the said Legislature in voting for the employment of such unnecessary and useless attaches, and in appointing any of them, and we hereby declare that, by this action, our Representative and Senator in the Legislature have forfeited the respect and confidence reposed in them by the constituents, and should never again be entrusted with any public office.

Resolved, further, that a copy of these resolutions be transmitted by the secretary to each Grange in this state and that we recommend similar action by such Grangers, and

Resolved, further, that our Representative in the State Grange be and he is hereby instructed to bring this matter before that body and endeavor to secure similar action thereon.

Resolved, further, that copies of this resolution be sent to the member of the Legislature from this Assembly district and to the Senator from this district, and to the Speaker of the House and President of the Senate, and that a copy be furnished for publication.

Wreck at Shellville

The regular passenger train on the S. P. for San Francisco, coiled with the freight train at Shellville last Friday afternoon. The accident occurred at the bend just after crossing the bridge over Sonoma creek. Fortunately no one was seriously hurt although all of the passengers received a terrible shaking up. The regular passenger train was on schedule time and had the right of way.

It seems that a flag man was sent back or told to go back and warn the approaching train. The engineer of the down train could not see the freight and the signal was given too late for him to stop his train in time to avert the catastrophe. A number of freight cars were reduced to kindling wood. The wreckage was cleared and the damaged track repaired by Saturday afternoon. The trainmen rendered every assistance possible to the injuries of those who were hurt. A special car came up and carried the passengers on to their destination.

The passenger engine was somewhat battered up by the impact, and the pony trucks left the rails, making it necessary to get wrecker from Vallejo to place the engine on the rails again. Had the passenger coaches left the rails they would have been rolled down an embankment twenty-five feet high.

When the crash came people were hurled from their seats and it is miraculous that none were more seriously injured. Engineer Ward who was running for Engineer Ball, the latter taking a vacation, jumped from his engine and escaped slight bruises. Fireman Cardozo also jumped and he was severely bruised. The engineer reversed his engine and dropped the air break into the emergency before deserting the cab. George Colgan saw the engineer leap from the cab and braced himself for the collision which he knew was to follow. He was uninjured, but had express matter hurled about the car and around him, including cases of eggs, of which many were badly scrambled. The most seriously injured was a passenger named Van Brankan of Oakland whose scalp was badly torn.

A New Post Card Rule

The picture postal card has proved to be not only a joy to the millions, but an important source of profit to the post office department. These cards are easy to handle and do not increase the expenses of post office administration in proportion to the revenue they bring in. Because of their financial value, which has seemed worth stimulating, the post cards have succeeded in securing a bit of favoritism from the government which no other mail matter has obtained. Before long it will be permissible to write messages on the address side of the cards as well as the picture side. Probably hundreds of thousands of persons in America alone and certainly millions if all the world is included, are picture card collectors. A post card without a message from the sender is but half of a pleasure, but a message across the picture, or even beneath it, or at one side, is regarded by the collector as the right thing in the wrong place. When the new arrangement takes effect the sender may use the left half of the front of the card for his written message, and all of the blessings will be neatly delivered without any of the evils. The United States is not the country that makes the innovation. Most of the European countries have already tried it, and even have private arrangements for the transmission of such cards across national boundary lines. By the last universal postal congress it was agreed that after October 1, 1907, such cards should pass freely between all nations which are parties to the convention. Postmaster General Cortelyou has now issued an order providing that after March 1st next such cards shall be admitted to the domestic mails.

This is good news for the collectors and presumably experience has sufficiently demonstrated that messages confined to one-half of the card will leave free space enough on the other half to enable the mail men to make out the addresses without any undue confusion.

The Vital Point

HOT BLAST DOWN DRAFT

To consider when buying a heater is the draft. Exhaustive tests prove that the down-draft as it is developed in the celebrated is the only form that insures perfect combustion at a minimum of fuel expense. Furnishes twice the heat from half the amount of fuel used, because all gas generated is burned. In other heaters it escapes into the chimney.

Consider this fuel economy in buying.
